Eqwal completes acquisition of US company Optech.

Founded in 1998, Optech Orthotics & Prosthetics Services Ltd provides custom prosthetic and orthotic manufacturing services in the United States, particularly in the south-west suburbs of Chicago (Illinois). Specialising in the design and manufacture of prosthetics and orthotics for adults and children, the company stands out for its expertise.

Optech is present in three cities in the Chicago area: Joliet, where the main branch is located, as well as Kankakee and Evergreen Park. This strategic location enables Optech to effectively cover a vast area and offer a local service to its patients.

Under the direction of Marty McNab, President and Certified Orthotist (CPO), Optech currently employs 8 people. Optech's practitioners are renowned for their skills, knowledge and empathy, enabling them to work with patients of all ages and from all walks of life.

Jean-Pierre Mahé, CEO of Eqwal, said: "We are very pleased to see Eqwal establish a presence in the Chicago area. Marty's professional team will bring a wealth of knowledge and expertise to the Eqwal network in the U.S. "
